Current PDM Information

January PDM

Virtual Meeting via Zoom

There is a PDM being offered virtually by the Massachusetts Minuteman Chapter of Boston (Regional)

Date: Tuesday, Jan 12, 2021

PDM Time: 4:45 pm CST – 6:20 pm CST

Zoom link to be provided after registration

Speaker: Anthony Zampello, CPIM, CIRM, CSCP

Topic: S&OP vs MPS

Following a long career in manufacturing and materials management, Anthony now serves as a consultant, educator, and trainer to the operations and materials management profession across many industries. He has been involved for over thirty years in a broad range of industries, product types, and market environments. He has held senior management positions with Fortune 500 companies and has consulted with companies that range from small, family owned, to large, multinational, companies.

During his long tenure in industry, Anthony has managed a wide range of initiatives, including: S&OP and ERP implementations, lead time reduction projects, offshore sourcing efforts, reorganization of materials management organizations, and inventory reduction programs. His years of experience give him a broad perspective in his consulting and teaching work in the United States, Mexico, United Arab Emirates, Kingdom of the Netherlands, China and Great Britain.

He has been active in APICS since 1982 and holds the following certifications:

- Production and Inventory Management (PIM) [Achieved lifetime certification]
- Certified Supply Chain Professional (CSCP) [Achieved lifetime certification]
- Integrated Resources management (CRIM)
- APICS Master Level Instructor for CPIM and CSCP
- APICS Lead Level Instructor for Principles of Operations Management
- APICIS Master Instructor for Sales & Operations Planning Certificate Program

Anthony is a subject matter expert, participating on exam committees for APCIS. He has been utilized by various APICS chapters, conducted training sessions for major APCIS corporate accounts and is the Sales & Operations Planning Certificate Core Workshop speaker. As a speaker, he has appeared often at the APICS International Conference, Chapter engagements and various industry symposiums. He has held various leadership positions in APICS, including the Corporate Board of Directors and President of the Providence, New Bedford and Monadnock Chapters. Anthony also teaches as an adjunct instructor for CPIM and CSCP at Fox Valley Technical College. He has been an adjunct professor at the Worcester Polytechnic Institute and Bentley University.

About the Presentation:

In the business world, there are different definitions of S&OP and Master Scheduling, and since these two processes are so often confused, this short session will explain how S&OP and Master Scheduling are the same AND how they are different.

We will walk through the general business hierarchy to get acquainted as to where each process fits and how its output is validated.

In Master Scheduling, we will take a walk through a supermarket {curious?}.

After this session, you will be able to evaluate what is going on in your company and what gaps may exist {that you can close} on your journey to supply chain excellence.

To register, send an email to newsletter@shorelineapics.org noting that you are interested in attending the virtual PDM for January. A link will be sent to your email once you have registered.
